ABOUT

With their new wave indie pop sound this Independent and International band, hailing from Melbourne, Australia has been building a solid underground fan base in Europe and Australia for the past 5 years and are now set to hit and release into the UK after playing a number of successful UK showcases in 2015.

Led by siblings Matt and Julia Gurry, Belle Roscoe spent 4 years in Europe defining their sound, collaborating with European musicians and producing their second album with renowned DJ producer Luuk Cox (Shameboy, Girls in Hawaii, Stromae & MLCD). Belle Roscoe marries the refreshingly cool and epic indie melodies of the Melbourne siblings with the underground contemporary electronic world of Luuk Cox.

The UK release of single “Gun to my Head” hit the UK and European airwaves in 2015 and was followed by a self titled EP. An album is scheduled for UK release in September 2016.

PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS

Over the past few years, Belle Roscoe have performed at numerous festivals and sold out shows in both Europe and Australia.

Amongst the highlights include Le Printemps de Bourges, being the first Australian band in history to close the Cannes Film Festival, a performance to over 45,000 frenzied soccer fans at the Bollaert Stadium, Lens, the Rip Curl Festival, Biarritz (25,000 people) and sold out shows at Le Nouveau Casino, Paris in 2013 and 2014 (live video clip of the show on pg4).

In 2014 the siblings again travelled between Melbourne and Europe with their band, performing in festivals and venues across Australia & France.

Most recently, Belle Roscoe sold out their first London show in May 2015 at the legendary UK venue - The Troubadour, before being asked to return to perform at numerous key venues throughout the capital including The Hospital Club, Ronnie Scott's Jazz Club, and the Brooklyn Bowl, London O2 Arena in November 2015.

REVIEWS

"It's rare that every song on an album is single material, but Belle Roscoe have come pretty damn close." Daniel Cribb, The Music

"Brother-Sister duo, Matty and Jules radiate a unique and mesmerising chemistry, clearly the product of a lifetimes worth of shared experiences. Both siblings' possess extraordinary vocals and sure know how to work a crowd. Multi-talented musicians, with a wealth of great material they're one of the most captivating acts I've seen in 2015." Tours & Times, Belle Roscoe @ The Troubadour May 20th 2015.

"The album wastes no time in introducing listeners to their fresh new sounds... Belle Roscoe is clearly influenced by a range of musical genres for this album. The upbeat, soul-and-grunge vibe makes for easy listening, and has left me wanting more from this interesting band." Matilda Mornane, AU Review

"Like Fleetwood Mac without the infighting, or Midlake without the indie hype, this Melbourne band know the value of a well-placed harmony and a cantering tune. A bit folky, a bit country, a bit slick pop, this is easy listening without being queasy listening." * * * * Barry Divola, WHO Magazine

*"Last night's performance at The Troubadour, the siblings don't hold back as a musical Batman and Catwoman duo; their vocal harmonies are outstandingly on point. Their performance had a twang of Springsteen and Fleetwood Mac and the atmosphere within the venue was fantastic. Belle Roscoe's singing style hits you deep inside with their smooth yet emotional vocal melodies. The concert was a pleasure to experience and would be more than delighted to hear them play again!" * * * My Dad Rocks*
